Dr. Tom Koch is an adjunct professor of medical geography at the University of British Columbia (Vancouver, BC, Canada) and the author of a series of books and journal articles on spatial epidemiology and the mapping of disease. His most recent books are Cartographies of Disease, expanded edition (2017); Ethics in Everyday Places (2017); and Disease Maps: Epidemics on the Ground (2011). He also serves as consultant in gerontology and medical ethics at Alton Medical Centre, Toronto, specializing in issues of chronic and palliative care. His more than 200 journal articles include contributions in medical ethics, geography, gerontology, law, and philosophy.