Rev. Michael Rozier, S.J. is an assistant professor of Health Management and Policy at Saint Louis University, with a secondary appointment in the Gnaegi Center for Health Care Ethics. Rozier received his B.A. in chemistry from SLU in 2003. In 2008, Rozier served as an ethics fellow with the World Health Organization in Geneva, Switzerland. He has earned graduate degrees in philosophy from the University of Toronto, in international health from Johns Hopkins University, and in moral theology from Boston College. In 2018, he earned his Ph.D. in Health Management and Policy from University of Michigan. His research focuses on the role of moral argumentation in health care strategy and health policy. Rozier serves on the board of directors of SSM Health Corporation and on the board of trustees of Marquette University. In 2019, the American Geographic Society named Rozier an EthicalGEO fellow. His fellowship project investigates geolocation data that reveals personal health information and the way such data shapes notions of self-identity.
