

Mr. Thomas Greiner

Senior Managing Director

Accenture Federal Services Technology Lead

Mr. Greiner is a Senior Managing Director who leads Accenture Federal Services' (AFS) technology business. In this role, he oversees the solution development and delivery of AFS's technology-related programs across the federal system integration, technology consulting, application management and IT infrastructure space. This requires oversight of a 6,000-person practice area and coordination with Accenture's North America and Industry groups to bring leading practices to clients.

Since joining Accenture in 1988, Mr. Greiner has extensive experience in directing large-scale, public sector transformation programs. Mr. Greiner was the client partner for Accenture's work at the Department of Commerce from 2000-2005, with oversight responsibility for all support Accenture provided to the Department. He led Accenture's U.S. Custom & Emerging Solutions practice – an 8,000-person cross-industry group focused on the non-ERP solution space. He also served as the lead for the Accenture-led Smart Border Alliance (SBA) and its 700-person support team for the US-VISIT program, where he oversaw over a dozen new biometrics-related development projects used to help confirm identities and admissibility of foreigners looking to enter the country through each of our air, sea, and pedestrian ports of entry.

Mr. Greiner is an active member and speaker at organizations such as Association of Government Accountants, AFCEA, the Homeland Security & Defense Business Counsel, and NIST/NSA's Biometrics Consortium Conference. He graduated Magna Cum Laude with a Bachelor of Arts degree from Vanderbilt University.
